About The Book

Central Asia is undergoing momentous changes in all spheres and has accordingly attracted wide attention of academic and political circles all over the world. The geographical scope of Central Asia as is dealt with in this book, is confined to the former Soviet Central Asian Republics of Tajikistan, Kyrghizia, Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan and Turkmenia; Xinjiang and Tibet Autonomous Regions of People's Republic of China; Mongolia and Afghanistan.

The study presents an integrated view of the developments taking place in Central Asia and adopts an interdisciplinary and comparative study approach. Almost all well known Indian specialists in their respective fields have contributed to this volume. As such the book not only consolidates the Indian scholarly contribution in the field of Central Asian studies but also fills the long felt need for a compact reference-cum-textbook for Indian and foreign scholars.
